Nasby in the South.

A TOUR OF OBSERVATION IN THE SOUTH.

MR. D. R. LOCKE (Nasby), the editor of the TOLEDO BLADE, and Mr. ROBINSON LOCKE, will make a tour of the Southern States, commencing on or about October 15th, 1883, and continuing during the Autumn and Winter, the object being a series of letters descriptive of the whole South.

These letters, which will appear weekly, will be entirely non-political, their object being to place before the people of the whole country, especially the half million readers of the BLADE, such facts as are necessary to a proper comprehension of the resources of the South.

The great South is entering upon an era of development that in the course of a few years will work wonderful changes in population and general wealth. What the Southern States need, more than anything else, is that its advantages in soil, climate, forest and mineral wealth be known and understood, to the end of diverting thither its proper proportion of the millions of people coming into the country, and the millions more from the North who are seeking new homes. In the North, more is known of Germany and France than of the Southern States.

The TOLEDO WEEKLY BLADE has the largest circulation of any paper published in the United States, and these letters will appear regularly in its columns. In fact, the letters from the South will be its great feature for the coming year. The importance to the South of a work like this can hardly be over-estimated. The letters will not be confined to the regular tourist's routes, nor to a description of what the regular tourist writes about. Messrs. Locke will visit interior points, remote from the much-frequented lines of travel, they will investigate, personally, soil, water-powers, forests and mines, business facilities and advantages, the progress made and making, railroads, public buildings and works, everything in short pertaining to the material development of the vast country south of the Ohio and Potomac.

Those who have followed the work of the Messrs. Locke in their two years and a half in Europe, will understand their method of getting information, and their manner of treatment.

These "LETTERS FROM THE SOUTH" will commence in the TOLEDO WEEKLY BLADE about November 1st, and will continue probably a year—at least until the subject is exhausted.

THE WEEKLY BLADE, $1.00 a year, postpaid, to EVERYBODY

Those preferring may receive the BLADE THREE MONTHS, by remitting 30 cents, or clubs of three months trial subscribers, of not less than four, 25 cents each.

We send specimen copies of the BLADE free to any address. We want as many addresses as possible to send Specimen Copies to. Write a postal card asking for a Specimen Copy for yourself, and send us the names of all your neighbors. We want to send out a half-million specimen Copies within the next month. Don't be the meager as to the number.

Attachment.

L. T. Smith vs. John Robertson.

To John Robertson:

In pursuance to an order heretofore made and entered by Mitchell Wright, esq., a Justice of the Peace for Fentress County, in an attachment suit wherein the L. T. Smith is plaintiff, and you are defendant, you are hereby notified that upon the affidavit of defendant, in which it is alleged that defendant is a non-resident of the State of Tenn., and that he is indebted to complainant by account to the amount of twenty dollars, and that it is just, a writ of attachment was on the 10th day of November, 1883, issued in this cause against you by Mitchell Wright, a Justice of the Peace for Fentress County, when writ came to the hands of W. C. Coulter, Sheriff of said county, and was by him only levied on the following tract of land, on the same date, viz: beginning at a spotted oak standing in the north west corner of Etnas C. McFadden's farm, thence south one hundred (100) poles to a post oak, thence east fifty-two (52) poles to Robert T. Smith's northeast corner, to a post oak, thence south one hundred and thirty-eight (138) poles with thence's line to the line of the corner of 200 acre tract, thence with said line one hundred and forty-nine (149) poles to a white oak, thence north two hundred and ninety-six (296) poles to a stake, thence west one hundred and thirty-seven (137) poles to the place of beginning, as appears by the return of said Sheriff made on the same day, issued to said Wright, Justice as aforesaid. Now, then, you, the said John Robertson, are required to appear at noon on the

First Monday in January, 1884,

at the office of said Mitchell Wright, Esq., in the Third Civil District of Fentress County, before him as the Justice having cognizance of this cause, then and there to defend this action so commenced against you by attachment, otherwise the case will be proceeded in against you ex parte.

Witness Mitchell Wright, J. P., Fentress County, this 20th day of Nov., 1883.

WHY EAST TENNESSEE IS PROSPEROUS.

The following very eloquent letter appears under the above heading in the Jonesboro' Journal of Dec. 6:

That Tennessee is rapidly advancing to the foremost ranks of the excelsior States of the Union can now hardly be disputed. The time is not far hence when it will stand unequalled among the other States. And why not? Its mineral and agricultural products are not surpassed by any other State, except, perhaps, those States which are especially noted for some certain production. That Tennessee has rich farming lands, extensive timber tracts of the very choicest kinds of timber, large quantities of coal, an inexhaustible supply of iron ores, and the best of facilities for the transportation of such is an undeniable fact. The best evidence is that every soldier who has been there speaks in glowing terms of the pure air and water, the variety of elevation, lovely valleys, the beautiful table land, and the healthfulness of the State of Tennessee. General W. T. Sherman said once while traveling through its magnificent country, "I have crossed this country many times by almost every possible route and feel certain that at this time no single State holds out stronger inducements for industrious people as does that of East Tennessee. This whole region though called Southern, is in fact Northern without its severity of weather. It is a wheat growing State, and has a climate in no sense tropical or Southern. In point of health no country on the globe surpasses it." Another very strong argument in favor of this vast section of rich resources is that before the war the city of Chattanooga contained but 5,000 inhabitants. Within a year after the war soldiers from many different States packed back to Tennessee in such numbers that Chattanooga's population alone was swelled to, and now boasts of 18,000 people. At the present time hundreds of industrious farmers are emigrating from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana to the new garden of the South, and it is patent to every man, be he farmer or what he is, that now is the time to purchase lands there, while they are to be had at reasonable prices, and within the reach of all. There is no better place on earth to make a home. The comforts are innumerable. The people are extremely hospitable, and the best of schools and churches are abundant.

Williamsport Pa. W.

East Tennessee has thirty weekly newspapers.

The lumber business is increasing rapidly in upper East Tennessee.

Col. W. C. Carlton, of Knoxville, says there is soon to be a boom in immigration to East Tennessee from the Eastern States. He has received over 300 letters inquiring as to climate, etc.

Efforts are being made to hold an agricultural and creamery convention at Jackson in February. An excursion will be run on the Central road to bring experienced men from the North and Northwest.

The Knoxville Chronicle says there is no section of the United States which is now attracting so much attention as East Tennessee as a place for those seeking new homes. The new comer can be suited with a farm of any size from one acre to 500 or 1,000 and can find lands of any price from $2 or $3 to $100 an acre and higher. Probably the average price of all farming lands in East Tennessee would not exceed $10 an acre.

On Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m., another service was held, and two children were baptized.

Mr. R. Walton's son was named "John Kimber," and Mr. and Mrs. Blacklock and Mr. and Mrs. Walton acted as sponsors.

The other, the son and heir of Mr. Abner L. Ross, Jr., proprietor of the Tabard Inn, was named "Leonard Rugby," and Mr. and Mrs. Travers, of Sydney, Australia, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross were the sponsors. This is probably the first child that has ever borne the name of "Rugby." Mr. Ross was prompted to bestow it upon his son by the great interest he is taking in the colony and the fact that the child was born here, and in doing so has conferred an honor on Rugby.
